NREL Executive Energy Leadership Academy

The National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL) Executive Energy Leadership Academy, called Energy Execs, provides an opportunity for non-technical decision-makers throughout the country to learn about renewable energy and energy efficiency technologies, analytical tools, and financing. The two Energy Execs learning opportunities are the Leadership Program and the Leadership Institute. Both courses are designed to provide business, governmental, and community leaders with information and tools to guide their organizations and communities in energy-related decisions and planning.

Selection Criteria:

Successful applicants will demonstrate the following:

- Ability to influence the energy-related decisions of their organizations or communities;
- Commitment to attend all classes;
- Submission of two letters of recommendation, including one signifying their organization's commitment to applicant's participation.

The program is not intended for vendors or purveyors of energy services.

Fees:

Tuition is waived; course materials, transportation, and meals during the program are provided. Participants are responsible for travel and lodging expenses.

2013 Program Dates:

Leadership Program: May 29–31, June 19–21, July 17–19, August 14–16, and September 19–20.

Leadership Institute: May 8–10.

Application Process:

Complete this application and fax or mail to NREL by March 20, 2013; two letters of recommendation, including one indicating the commitment of your employer, should also be included. You may complete an online application at www.nrel.gov/energyexecs/.
